

EXPLANATION OF THE OUTPUT FILE

The output file will contain a list of rows with elements separated by space in the following format:

XXXXY or 00000, where 00000 means empty field.

Every space means new column and every new line (enter) means new row.

At the bottom of the file there is a number of gained points after an empty line (see enclosed .txt example).

Example: table of 5 rows and 5 columns

00000	00000	00000	00000	00000
RCRP0	PCCP0	00000	PCPC0	00000
00000	PPPPT	PPRPT	PRRR0	00000
00000	PRRR0	RCRP0	PPRPT	00000
00000	00000	RCRP0	00000	00000